BELLAIRE STRIKE.

Political Mischief-Makers Hastened What Might have been

AVERTED BY A CONFERENCE.

STATEMENT OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES THAT ENDED IN PLACING THE BIG BELLAIRE PLANT IN A STATE OF IDLENESS—EACH SIDE MAKES CLAIMS, AND OF COURSE THEY ARE AT VARIANCE—COMPARISONS MADE WITH SCALES OF OTHER MILLS.

The strike at the Bellaire mill was a principal topic of conversation yesterday and the conviction is forced upon the public that the political calamity howlers had much to do with it.

Prosperity was making too much progress to suit them and they constantly howled and misrepresented the situation and aggravated it as much as possible.

It is true there are many men employed in the mill who were not influenced by any other motive than a desire to secure more wages, but the agitators outside found an audience with some of the millmen and minimized every encouraging feature and exaggerated every discouraging one. The persistent effort in this direction for political effect, however, could not result in anything else than evil.

In a talk with some of the workmen yesterday, industrious men who want to work, it was learned that their action is not because of any grievance or gain of political advantage, but because the scale of wages in force was based upon a larger product than they think can be made at this mill. They want more money until the equality of the mill is shown to be the equal of the mills where practically the same scale is in force. They admit that the notice was short and the precipitation of the strike was hasty, but they feel that they have a real cause of complaint and are out to have the scale of wages based upon the output of the mill, and they declare this can be adjusted upon the basis of other mills in like business. This is what the company claims to have offered. The company says the scale is equal in every respect to the scales in force at Oliver Bros., at New Castle, and at Youngstown. At Oliver Bros. the same sized ingots are made as at the Bellaire mill. At Youngstown they are larger and the men at the Bellaire mill claim that the larger ingots produce a greater quantity of steel with the same amount of work, which is no doubt true.

There are sixty-two tonnage men employed in the Bellaire mill and they were paid on the basis of 250 tons per turn. There were thirty-one employed on each turn and the wages they received were as follows:

Seven men, per turn each.....	$1 75
Five men, per turn each.....	1 50
Two men, per turn each.....	2 25
Four men, per turn each.....	2 00
Three men, per turn each.....	1 87 1/2
Five men, per turn each.....	2 12 1/2
Four men, per turn each.....	2 50
One man, per turn each.....	3 00

There are two turns in each twenty-four hours.

The greater part of the skilled workmen are on the salary list and are paid from $15 to $125 per month. The increase of the salary list and a combination of circumstances such as always follow the starting of new machinery all combined to make dissatisfaction, and that this was aggravated for political effect is shown by the fact that the very afternoon the committee and the company were consulting as to the scale of wages, and before either knew what the result would be, and while the men were in the office, a comparison of the scales was printed in a Popocratic organ and had been furnished by a candidate.

MOUNDVILLE POSTMASTER.

"Lon" Linch Appointed by President McKinley—End of a Warm Contest.

A special dispatch to the Intelligencer from Washington, received last night, announces the appointment by the President yesterday of E. A. Linch as postmaster at Moundville. The appointment settles a local contest which has been carried on for some months past, and which has given Congressman Dovenor no small trouble to settle. All the applicants for the position were good men and it was hard to decide between them. The friends of the various applicants, however, could not get together and agree upon one of them for the place in response to Congressman Dovenor's desire, and he finally was obliged to name the fortunate man himself. It is understood that his selection of Mr. Linch, who was a passive candidate for the place, is satisfactory to the Republicans generally of Moundville. He is an enthusiastic working Republican, competent for the position, and will prove a popular postmaster. He succeeds Mr. J. C. Simpson, the Democratic incumbent, whose term has expired.

A SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Was the Supper and Art Exhibit Given by Ladies of St. Matthew's.

The ladies of St. Matthew's P. E. church last night at the rectory gave a unique and pleasing entertainment, consisting of a supper and art exhibition, for the benefit of the church. It was highly successful in every respect, and the proceeds will net a neat sum for the object in view.

The whole of the rectory was given over to the occasion and it was brilliantly illuminated and decorated from top to bottom. Supper was served at six bountifully laden tables from 5:30 until 8 o'clock, and refreshments were served upon request much later. The art room was on the third floor. It was beautifully arranged and the pictures loaned by lovers of art proved attractive to large numbers of visitors.

The art room was in charge of Mrs. Frank J. Hearne, Mrs. Edward Ewing and Misses Hulda Delaplaine, Effie Lewis, Sue Caldwell, Elsie Whitaker, Laura Hubbard and others. The supper tables were presided over by the following ladies:

First table, first floor—Mrs. J. W. Grubb, Mrs. Plattoff Zane and Mrs. Lamb; assistants, Misses Mamie Grubb, Holly Patterson and Martha Caldwell. Second table—Mrs. F. E. Tatum, and Mrs. Ed. Mendel; assistants, Mrs. AL Glass and Miss Etta Rinehart. Third table—Mrs. W. A. Issett, Mrs. Allen Wheat, Mrs. Jennie Hendershott; assistant, Miss Francis List.

Fourth table—Mrs. G. B. Mrs. Benjamin Hildreth; assistants, Misses Abbie Brown and Sarah Cecil.

Fifth table, second floor—Mrs. Col. W. W. Arnett, Mrs. Gil Brown, Mrs. S. L. Brice and Mrs. Charles H. Taney; assistants, Misses Lizzie Pendleton, Evelyn Jepson and Mamie Patterson.

Sixth table—Mrs. Howard Simpson and Mrs. Cyrus P. Flick; assistants, Misses Genevieve and Ethel Ewing and Madge Johnson.

The refreshment table was in charge of Mrs. George B. Caldwell, Mrs. Nell, Miss Annie Nell and Misses Eva Brice and Jessie Bachman.

THE DAY NURSERY

Has Its Semi-Annual Donation Day, With Great Success.

Very successful was the second semi-annual donation day of the Day Nursery at 1610 Market street yesterday afternoon and last night. Large numbers of people called with donations and were interested in the showing of the work of the nursery, whose practical operation was uninterrupted during the day. The donations included jellies, soap, tea, sugar, clothing, blankets and many other articles of usefulness, as well as $30 in cash. Eight children are now boarding at the nursery, their parents being engaged in domestic work that prevents them from seeing their children except two or three times a week. There have been applications for many others, but the facilities and resources of the nursery are as yet limited, though the ladies hope their field will soon be widened. They are now considering the matter of establishing a free kindergarten and the project will no doubt be pushed through to the goal of success, as the Day Nursery ladies are among the most enterprising in the city. The committee in charge yesterday was composed of Mrs. F. G. Caldwell, Mrs. J. B. Garden, Mrs. Harry, Mrs. George Ebeling, Miss Lizzie Swift and Miss Mary Hanks. They extend their sincere thanks to the public for its generous aid extended yesterday.

CLOTHING—D. GUNDLING & CO.

To Cover Your Nakedness

Is one thing; to be properly dressed is quite another.

How can you be satisfied to wear ordinary ready-made clothes or cheap merchant tailored ones, when you buy bearing this label made of the very best materials, by expert custom tailors, after the most fashionable models, at about the same price as the former and a great deal less than the latter? Our profit on Stein-Bloch Clothes is not as large as on other makes. They are better and consequently cost more. But we make more in the end, because we sell so much of it; they need no further advertising to a customer who has once worn them.

Test the truth of our assertions. You risk nothing. Your money back if you want it, proves it.
